Let Them Pay It. That remarkable journal the Alexandria Gazette has never ceased, we believe, to advocate the payment by Virginis of her debt as ascertained by the funding bill of 1871, and yet has never failed to support any man whom the Democrats had nominated for Governor or any other high office or position. Over and over again has it by necessary implication pronounced the Virginia Democrats repudiationists. In fact, it seems to see no inconsistency in denouncing the platforms of the Virginia Democracy at the same time that it is advocating the election of the men who stand upon those platforms.

Alexandria contemporary : "Readers of the Gazette know that for year past it has expressed its fear that in the next State campaign the Republicans would declare for the settlement of the State debt by accepting the terms of the creditors, and thereby either force the Democrats to follow them into debt paying, as they did into repudiation, or else to avow themselves as the repudiating party in Virginia,"

Here is a characteristic paragraph from our might be disposed to be otherwise. Not Why should the Gazette fear action on the part of the Republicans looking to a pay- only that, but it would educate both the ment of the State debt? Let them pay it, we dealer and the consumer. say. They would run no risk in advocating its payment; for their negro troops will fight as valiantly for paying fifty millions of the debt as for repudiating the whole of it. They have no choice in the matter.

We are sure of one thing, however, and that is that the Democrats of Virginia will an examination to be made as to where are not this year declare in favor of settling the State debt upon any other terms than those offered to the bondholders in the RIDDLEBERGER bill. The State will be compelled to repudiate out and out many millions of her debt as it was ascertained to be in 1871. She then, without consulting West Virginia, turned over fifteen millions of the debt to that State; and as West Virginia has never paid a dollar of it, and intends never to pay a dollar of it, and as it bears 6 per cent. interest, it is a clear case that the fifteen millions have grown to be over thirty millions. These thirty millions Virginia will of course repudiate; and when she begins the work of remudiation she may come to the conclusion that she might as well be hanged for stenling a sheep as for stealing a lamb and so go on and repudinte the whole debt. Is it more discreditable to repudiate a debt of forty millions than one of fifteen millions?

When Virginia assigned fifteen millionsone third of her debt-to her daughter, so called, she assumed the other thirty millionsdresses of very thin material. two thirds-herself. As she has never paid any of this, or, if any, a sum not worthy of he still owes the thirty millions of principal. How many millions are to be added for interest, we know not; but perhaps twenty millions. Thus:

West Virginia's share, with interest. $20,000,000
Virginia's share, without interest. 30,000,000
Interest on Virginia's share. 20,000,600 $80,000,000 Where is the lunatic who would advocate the payment of that amount? The Gazette, to justify its fears in the premises, quotes the following paragraph from the leading anti-Mahone Republican paper in Virginia. The Valley Virginian "We are in for making a square issue with "We are in for making a square issue with Lee and Ellyson and the repudiating element of the Democratic party on this question and policy. The creditors are willing to make a fair compromise if they are not approached with the highwayman's logic—'your money or your life'—and are met in a rational way by rational men for the purpose of settling the debt contraversy upon a rational, honorable, and practical basis.'

ment of the Democratic party on this question and policy. The creditors are willing to make a fair compromise if they are not approached with the highwayman's logic—your money or your life—and are met in a rational way by rational men for the purpose of settling the debt contraversy upon a rational, honorable, and practical basis."

Again, we say let the Republicans pay the debt—if they will! But what says Markone? Mr. Yosr, the editor of the Valley Virginian, has no influence over the negroes Virginian, has no influence over the negroes.

Virginian, has no influence over the negroes case, which is still going on as this repor-closes.

The Good Templars are making a strong effort to clean out the saloons here, and yes-terday presented the Court with a petition of voters requesting a local-option election. The Judge has the matter under considera-tion. Since the petition was presented several of the signers have signified a desire compared with that exercised over them by MAHONE. YOST couldn't carry a hundred negroes in his county against the orders of MAHONE. We agree with our Alexandria contempowary that the State debt is not yet settled; but we are confident that it would have been settled years ago on the basis of the Riddle.

Bender bill if it had not been for the pernicuous teachings of the Gazette and the few obstinate Democrats in Virginia who have approved those teachings. That paper and those persons have encouraged unpatriotic and thoughtless people to use coupons in light, and made a most favorable impression. and thoughtless people to use coupons in paying their taxes, and so have created every year a small demand for tax-receivable coupons. This has encouraged the bondholders continue their war upon the Commonwealth. If no Virginian had used a coupon after the RIDDLEBERGER bill became a law in 1881 the State debt would have been settled long ago. Those mischief-makers have been the worst enemies the State has ever had. They have dwelt in Virginia, and, whilst standing up with their brethren, bave fought the battle of the British speculators.

West Virginia. The Supreme Court of Appeals of West Virginia in deciding that Governor WILSON was entitled to hold over until the contest between Goff and FLEMING had been ended, decided in effect against Mr. Carn's claim also; and we hardly know how to regard the report that the court has to decide his case bereafter.

FLEMING and Gory will now fight their case out in the courts. Governor Wilson ought to call a session of the Legislature-and of sourse will call one—as soon as the Contest Committee of members of the Legislature is ready to report in the Gopp-Fleming case. The contest in West Virginia is unparalleled. It has now gone on about four months. We trust that it will be decided peacefully and

A number of applicants for office have just returned from Washington badly creatfallen and very much disappointed with the outlook. Those seeking to displace foremen and others in the navy-yard were exmen and others in the navy-yard were exceedingly discouraged at their reception in the office of the Secretary of the Navy, where they were informed that removals are not to be made just yet solely on political grounds. The prospect of the Administration going slow in the matter of removals and the possible enforcement of the civil-service regulations causes much despondency in the ranks of the army of expectant ones in this section. Democrats on the ragged edge holding positions are correspondingly happy.

Commodore Brown, of the navy-yard, left last night for Washington to urge the speedy Joke as the paragraphers may about "Jersey lightning" and the amount of business it has furnished for the courts and the inone and inebriate asylums, there is no question that New Jersey is far ahead of any other State in the Union in the matter of protecting her citizens against the mjurious effects of tood adulteration. There is little that comes into the State in the way of a prolast night for Washington to urge the speedy last hight for washington to drige the speedy allowance of funds for this yard, as a large force expects to go to work in the construction department next Friday, the beginning of the half month. A CARD.—I HAVE RESIGNED MY PLACE as General Agent of the Valley Mutural Life Association and have accepted the position of Special Agent for the southern States for the HARTFORD LIFE AND ANNUITY COMPANY of Hartford, Cone. I had several other companies offered me, but selected this one because I believed it to be the best in the United States. I was particularly impressed with its SAPETY-FUND SYSTEM, which complines cheapness with absolute security. All I ask of a man who is insured or wante insurance is to give me an opportunity to explain to him the medius operanci of the system, and I will satisty him that it is to his interest to carry his insurance in the Hartford Life. It now has over 20,000 satisfied members, and the number is increasing rapidly. So remember it is to your interest to see me or one of my agents before insuring your life. The pian of the company is so plain and so popular that it is easy to work.
I will make liberal contracts with good men as agents.

My address is Stanuton. Va.
